

You say you love the sun but when sun shines you seek the shadow.

You say you love the rain but when the rain falls you seek the umbrella.

I am afraid because you say you love me too.